SITE Santa Fe is pleased to present Pae White: Material Mutters, an exhibition surveying the works of the Los Angeles-based artist, from June 18 – September 18, 2011. There will be a media preview and walkthrough with the artist on Thursday, June 16, from 11 am – 12 noon. The free public opening is Friday, June 17 from 5 – 7 pm.

Pae White: Material Mutters is an exhibition that surveys White's works over the last five years with a focus on her monumental tapestries, which she has been producing since 2004. These tapestries highlight dynamic everyday objects and phenomena such as smoke and aluminum foil. The translation of these items – first into digital photographs, then into tapestries – creates compositions of abstract beauty that solidify the immaterial and encourage a re-examination of the familiar.

The interest in exploring the aesthetic possibility of humble materials is a thread that runs through White's work. She has created dynamic and engaging sculptures and installations constructed from materials such as paper and bird seed. Architecture and an interest in activating space are often a point of departure for her work. Her installation at the 2009 Venice Biennale was likened to an aviary, replete with bird seed chandeliers and activated by performers trained in the traditional Venetian art of bird calling. Self-Roaming, the block long oceanfront project she created for the 2009 edition of Art Basel Miami Beach, was both sculpture and immersive environment and served as a hub of activity and a glowing beacon.

Material Mutters presents several tapestries in an installation designed by the artist specifically for SITE Santa Fe, including a new tapestry Sea Beast, commissioned by The Power Plant, Toronto and exhibited for the first time in the United States. The exhibition also includes video, sculpture, and works on paper. Dying Oak-Elephant and Wild Raspberry Bush are animations based on digital scans of flora. Her Smoke Studies series of works on paper appear to be drawings of smoke but in fact are laser carvings on paper, an unusual pairing of material and technique.

Artist Talk: Pae White

"I see myself as using the vernacular of design, as a raw material. However, I am always making art. I don't really see myself as a designer or a "trans-disciplinary" artist but more as an artist who plays with the assumptions of recognizable forms."
--Pae White

Pae White will give an artist talk on Tuesday, June 21, at 6 pm at SITE Santa Fe as part of SITE's Art & Culture series. White will discuss her multi-media practice which includes tapestries, books and other print work, sculptures, the stage curtain for the New Opera House in Oslo, and public buildings for the North Embarcadero redevelopment in San Diego.
